A journey through colourful landscapes

In the bathroom, trends move at a different pace. We see new concepts emerge as the wider interior design world moves the dial, then quietly build up momentum to become influential bathroom trends in their own right. In 2019 that shift will manifest itself in a kaleidoscope of colours, finishes and shapes. There's never been a better time to escape the restraints of minimalism and have a little bit of fun with bathroom design.

C.P. Hart has spread its net world-wide to source the most exciting new innovations from leading product creators and manufacturers, including first-to-market products and exclusive designer collaborations.

Alpine

Trend 2: Alpine

Blue is fast becoming the new neutral in the bathroom. Watery blues, bright teals and deep indigos are all a revitalising choice in a room devised around water use, and are being used with clean white vanity units and natural materials to energise a bathroom scheme. What's set to turn our heads in 2019 is the emergence of blue sanitaryware as a cool alternative to white. Look out for powdery blue baths, basins and WCs teamed with polished chrome or gold taps. Clean white furniture anchors the trend and is particularly striking when finished with marble door fronts or textured stone surfaces.

Trend 3: Pastures

Pastel tones have been infusing interior design schemes for over a decade but it's only now that we're seeing their influence in bathroom design. Sorbet shades are being seen increasingly on basins and furniture, with muted blues, yellows and greens the most prominent shades to look out for in 2019. Key to this trend is the subtle application of colour. Make an ice-blue vanity unit or yellow basin the basis of your scheme and then embellish with a beautifully sculptured tap, intricate tiles and plants.

Trend 4: Shores

One of the most exciting trends for 2019 is the emergence of pop colours. Bright, fun and ever so slightly retro, this trend is defined by the use of light-hearted ice-cream tones and bold primary accents as an antidote to calm neutrals. Say hello to statement sanitaryware in vibrant colours, jewel-tone taps, decorative wallpaper and geometric prints as colour and pattern take centre stage. This trend is all about having a little bit of fun with design to breathe new life into your bathroom.

Meet 2LG Studio

Founded in 2014 by Jordan Cluroe and Russell Whitehead, 2LG Studio is an Interior Design practice based in south-east London. The creative duo has been described by the Sunday Times as "the rising stars of the interiors scene."

Their adaptable and personal approach to design allows them to respond uniquely to the specific human needs of each project. They take pride in combining form, function and decorative joy in equal measure.

Originally hailing from a theatre background, collaboration has always been key to their work and has naturally progressed into their design ethic. They are driven by the creative desire to give a platform to new talents in the design world, as well as giving life to new designs of their own. They're committed not only to seeking out cutting-edge new processes and materials, but applying them to the design of peoples' homes.

Their award-winning design blog is their outlet for this collaborative voice, and acts as a platform to showcase their process and that of other new talents. Jordan and Russell are also the new official House Doctors for the Metro Newspaper, a weekly interiors column.

2LG Case Study Granville Park

A project for a young family, the brief was to create a fresh and vibrant space, using a strong sense of symmetry throughout. The mint walls were to be contrasted with a pink basin originally but after receiving charcoal concrete samples it was decided that the darker option grounded the fresh wall colours and gave the space structure. The biggest challenge for this bathroom was space-planning. The family wanted a freestanding bath, shower and double basin vanity unit. Clever solutions, such as a bespoke frameless shower screen and smaller basins, ensured the brief was met without compromising on functionality or making the space cramped.

The bathroom image had an amazing reception online and won the overall Pinterest UK prize for the Best Interior Design. "This is perhaps down to the bespoke vanity unit we had made out of recycled plastic. It is showstopping and nods to a big resurgence of interest in terrazzo." 2LG Studio

HOT Couture

The London-based interior design company, 2LG Studio, were chosen to interpret our predicted trends for 2019. The creative duo, Jordan Cluroe and Russell Whitehead, composed a powerful and palpable room-set in red and pink that combines new finishes and bold products.

Working with the luxury bathroom retailer's in-house design team for several months, they have produced a bespoke room-set. This was revealed at C.P.Hart's 2019 product launch in November.

2LG Studio said "When C.P.Hart approached us to work on this project with them we were thrilled. We have specified product through them for our private residential clients many times and love the product collections that they offer."

2LG Studio worked with the in-house team to select cutting-edge products to create their colourful bathroom design. The Bette bath was custom made in magnolia pink to complete the dual-coloured design with the Rho basin from Kast in a matching hue. Fantini provides a dose of fun with its I Balocchi pop-art style brassware and freestanding shower; in a custom all-red finish. "Jordan and Russell have such a signature style and always embrace colour which makes this collaboration work so well. C.P.Hart has been championing colour in the bathroom for quite some time now, so it's been great to work with designers who enjoy the bright and have created something bold for us," commented Rachel Martin, Merchandising Director.

Products featured: Rho Basin, Bisazza Tiles in Red and Pink, Fantini Shower and Basin Mixer & Bette Bath.

Bisazza's Opus Romano Matt tiles in pink and red pull this forward look together. "Red and pink is an iconic colour combo. It is a combo that has been in our minds for a long time and this was the perfect opportunity to experiment with it. Once we knew that Bisazza were on board too, we knew that their extensive range of colours in matt and gloss would give us the perfect opportunity to blend colours and create a jewellery box of a bathroom."

"The brief was to work with the theme "kaleid-escape" and we wanted to reference this by creating something that may look unassuming on the outside but is thrilling on the inside. Reveal moments excite us in interiors and this bathroom design is all about that." With the help of Beck Interiors, the set was designed with cut-out moon shapes to encourage the viewer to move around the room and see it from new and unusual angles.

The studio cited the American fashion title Paper Magazine as a source of inspiration. "It had the most incredible red and pink cover the month we sat down to create the concepts. We also have a passion for Italian design and for movies. This month sees the release of the remake of 70s cult horror film, Suspiria, now directed by Luca Guadagnino and starring the goddess that is Tilda Swinton. We couldn't be more excited about it and it has been a big influence on the design of the installation for C.P.Hart."

The collaboration is part of C.P.Hart's dedicated activity to bring consumers the latest in product and interior design. The room-set will be on display in C.P.Hart's flagship Waterloo showroom throughout 2019. C.P.Hart will also be showcasing the latest collections in its gallery space which includes new designs from Bisazza, Bette, Scavolini and more. C.P.Hart also issued its Trend Report for 2019 - now available to Press.
